A little bit about Rex...

Rex is a lovely little lad who came to the centre after his devoted owner sadly passed away. Rex is a friendly little soul who loves spending time with his people. He walks very well on his lead and is sociable with other dogs while out and about, he does not need a lot exercise preferring a couple of smaller walks throughout the day. Rex loves to play with his toys with you and will bring them to you for a bit of chase and a tuggy war game. Rex would love a home where he can share the sofa with his new family while getting lots of cuddles and attention, he really will make someone a lovely addition to the family and bring them so much happiness. Rex does have sensitive skin and is on daily medication for this and that keeps him itch free which he takes really well. We would love to see this smashing chap settled in a loving home. Rex is suitable to live with a quiet compatible dog after a successful introduction at the centre, he is suitable to live with children aged 10 years and over.

My personality...

I walk nicely on a lead

I can be left alone for short periods

I could live with children of secondary school age

I'm small but full of fun

I may be able to live with another dog

I love fuss and attention
